Highlights of Japanese Kampo Medicine:
Traditional Knowledge, Modern Research and Clinical Practice

9:00-9:10 Welcome Addresses
Bernd Kostner, Vienna and Heidrun Reißenweber-Hewel, Munich

9:10-9:20 Greeting Remarks
Austrian Society for Acupuncture (ÖGA) and German Medical Association of Acupuncture (DÄfA)

Session A: Introduction and Historical Aspects

9:20-9:40 The special characteristics of Japanese Kampo Medicine
Heidrun Reißenweber-Hewel, Clinic for Japanese Medicine, and Competence Centre for Complementary Medicine, Techn. University, Munich, Germany

9:40-10:00 On the “Japanization” of materia medica studies (honzō-gaku) in 17th-century Japan
Wolfgang Michel-Zaitsu, Kyushu University, Fukuoka, Japan

10:00-10:20 How do medical illustrations of the Tokugawa period reflect Japanese society and science of the time?
Gretchen De Soriano, University of Westminster, London, UK

Morning Coffee Break from 10:20 to 10:50

Session B: Preclinical Actions and Clinical Efficacy

10:50-11:10 Daikenchuto, a Kampo medicine, ameliorates post-operative ileus by anti-inflammatory action through nicotinic acetylcholine receptors
Tetsuro Oikawa, Kitasato University, Tokyo, Japan

11:10-11:30 Effects of Leonurus japonicus Houtt. and eight of its bio-active constituents on the activity of PPARα, β/δ, and γ in a newly developed in vitro luciferase reporter gene assay
Kenny Kuchta, Sanyo Gakuen University, Okayama, Japan

11:30-11:50 Clinical efficacy of Kampo therapy in pediatric lymphangiomas - a pilot study -
Naoki Hashizume, Kurume University, Kurume, Japan
Integration of a Kampo medicine, Nijutsuto, and Western medical treatment in the treatment of long-term refractory frozen shoulder: A case series
Young-Chang Arai, Aichi Medical University, Nagakute, Japan

Kampo medicine for alleviation of symptoms of pediatric cancer patients: A case series
Keiko Ogawa, Kanazawa University, Kanazawa, Japan

Lunch Break from 12:30 to 13:30

Session C: Standardization and Methodology of Kampo Medicine

13:30-13:50  Kampo practice standardization project
Hiroshi Odaguchi, Kitasato University, Tokyo, Japan

13:50-14:10  Visualization and standardization of Japanese Kampo Medicine by a large clinical database
Tetsuhiro Yoshino, Keio University, Tokyo, Japan

14:10-14:30  Systematic review on the use of Kampo diagnosis in randomized controlled trials of Kampo medicines
Yoshiharu Motoo, Kanazawa Medical University, Uchinada, Japan

Afternoon Coffee Break from 14:30-14:50

Poster Session: 14:50-15:50

Session D: International Aspects of Kampo Medicine

15:50-16:20  Field trial of Traditional Medicine Chapter in ICD-11
Kenji Watanabe, Japan Society for Oriental Medicine, Tokyo, Japan and Nenad Kostanjsek, WHO, Geneva, Switzerland

16:20-16:40  Registration of herbal medicinal products in the EU
Astrid Obmann, Austrian Medicines and Medical Devices Agency, Vienna, Austria

16:40-17:00  How can European physicians become acquainted with Kampo?
Ulrich Eberhard, Kampo Clinic, Madrid, Spain and Sigrid Bormann, Kampo Clinic, Lüneburg, Germany

17:00-17:20  Case report writing: A new competency for the internationalization of Kampo
Gregory Plotnikoff, Penny George Institute for Health and Healing, Minneapolis, USA